

Face2Face Meetings Coming Your Way!

Wednesday September 12th

6:30 – 8 pm

Mary Safford

To help foster the connections within our ever-growing community, we are encouraging all Members, Friends, and Visitors to participate in Face2Face Meetings this Fall. Face2Face meetings are one-on-one opportunities for creative interchange. Creative interchange is liberal theologian Henry Nelson Wieman's process of seeking to transform oneself through the simple interaction of listening to one another in an engaging and meaning full way, with an expectation that greater awareness and understanding of each other will ultimately widen and deepen our community by expanding our appreciation of the world we share and what is possible in it.

We will be kicking off this year's program through a church wide gathering where you will have the opportunity to have up to three Face2Faces in one evening. You may also schedule a Face2Face meeting with someone off site at your convenience.

You will not be asked to commit to anything, just to sit down and talk for a 30 minutes. Please plan on joining us and make some new UU friends! If you have questions please contact Lori Emison Clair, Director of Congregational Life at dcl@ucdsm.org.
